

Rating Action: Moody's downgrades most enhanced ratings on Pennsylvania school districts by one notch; placed on review for further downgrade

Global Credit Research - 10 Sep 2015

Action affects 181 enhanced school district ratings

New York, September 10, 2015 -- Moody's Investors Service has downgraded the enhanced ratings on most school districts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (Aa3 stable) by one notch, and placed them on review for further downgrade.

For districts enhanced by the commonwealth's pre-default intercept programs, Moody's has downgraded the programmatic rating to A2 from A1, and placed the programmatic rating on review for downgrade. This action affects the State Public School Building Authority Lease Revenue Intercept Program (Sec. 785) and the Pennsylvania School District Fiscal Agent Agreement Intercept Program (Sec. 633). As a result, we have downgraded 13 pre-default ratings on Pennsylvania school districts to A2 from A1. Each of these ratings is on review for downgrade, as is the pre-default rating on the Penn Hills School District (pre-default enhanced rating Baa1).

For districts enhanced by the commonwealth's post-default intercept program, Moody's has lowered the cap, or highest rating districts can receive due to the post-default enhancement, to A3 from A2. This cap is also on review for downgrade. As a result, Moody's has downgraded 164 post-default enhanced ratings to A3 from A2. Each of these ratings is on review for downgrade. There are 11 post-default ratings previously rated A3 or lower (because of lower underlying ratings); we do not downgrade these ratings with this action, though they all are on review for downgrade.

SUMMARY RATING RATIONALE

The downgrade of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's school district intercept ratings is a consequence of the commonwealth's chronically late budgets and the lack of clarity surrounding its ability to honor intercept obligations in the absence of an approved and implemented budget. While we expect the commonwealth to cover any missed debt service payments on enhanced bonds, the current lengthy budget impasse has heightened risks to bondholders.

The downgrade of the pre-default programmatic rating on the State Public School Building Authority Lease Revenue Intercept Program (Sec. 785), the State Public School Building Authority Current Year Intercept Program and the Pennsylvania School District Fiscal Agent Agreement Intercept Program (Sec. 633) to A2 from A1 incorporates the lack of absolute certainty that the commonwealth would appropriate funds to school districts in time to cover missed debt service payments on a timely basis.

The lowering of the cap on school district bonds enhanced on a post-default basis (Pennsylvania Act 150 School District Intercept Program) to A3 from A2 also reflects the increased risks to bondholders given state budget delays, as well as competing claims for state aid from pre-default obligations, pensions, and charter school tuition.

The intercept-enhanced ratings for individual financings reflect Moody's assessment of credit risk pursuant to our methodology, "State Aid Intercept Programs and Financings: Pre and Post Default." Credit considerations include availability of funds, timing of state aid payments, state aid trend, strength of notification requirement, and timing between notification and intercept. Additional credit factors include a debt service coverage ratio and, for post-default structures, the underlying rating of the individual school districts.

OUTLOOK

The review for downgrade reflects the uncertainty regarding the amount and availability of state aid for debt service obligations given the commonwealth's prolonged budget stalemate, and the associated risks posed to school districts, particularly those highly dependent on state aid for operations and with limited operating flexibility to offset delays in budgetary appropriations.

WHAT COULD MAKE THE RATING GO UP

- Stronger demonstrated track record of timely budget adoption and school appropriation funding
- Establishment of a clearer plan for provision of payments in the absence of a budget
- Upgrade of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's rating
- Upgrade of underlying ratings (applies to post-default enhanced ratings)

WHAT COULD MAKE THE RATING GO DOWN

- Failure to make debt service payments or appropriate school aid to allow issuers to make timely payments
- Downgrade of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's rating
- Further delays in budget approval which hinder school districts' ability to pay debt service and meet other obligations
- Downgrade of underlying ratings (applies to post-default enhanced ratings)
